

HAS NOT HAD AN HOUR'S SICKNESS

Since He Commenced To Take "Fruit-a-lives"

78 LEXIS AVE., OTTAWA.
"Three years ago, I began to feel run-down and tired, and suffered very much from Liver and Kidney Trouble. Having heard of 'Fruit-a-lives', I thought I would try them. The result was surprising."

"I have not had an hour's sickness since I commenced using 'Fruit-a-lives' or Fruit Liver Tablets, and I know now what I haven't known for a good many years—the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain." WALTER J. MARKIOTT.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Howe's New Films Break All Records for Elaborateness.

Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival, now on its 47th semi-annual tour, will appear at the opera house on Thursday, May 2, and will show local followers of this popular entertainment the almost unbelievable feats of huge caterpillar war tractors in the United States army. This clumsy looking but highly efficient machine is the invention of an American, Benjamin Holt, who still supervises the manufacture of them in this country, and it is the progenitor of the famous British "tank" and other "caterpillar" contrivances. The work of the caterpillar tractor under the manipulation of Uncle Sam's sturdy soldier-experts, demonstrates it to be one of the most interesting mechanical devices of the present era. Mr. Howe's film shows not one but many of these Herculean implements in thrilling action. They can uproot trees, climb hill where the mud is many inches deep, ford streams, haul long army trains over roads that would be impassable for other vehicles, and do many other things that have made the caterpillar tractor one of the wonders of the age.

The exciting capture of a wild mountain lion by a man and woman, fearless mountaineers of our great northwest, armed only with a rope and assisted by a few trained dogs, is a portion of the program that will make spectators "sit up and take notice." It abounds in thrills and is absolutely bona fide in every particular, which makes it all the more interesting.—adv.

MEETS AT EAST BROOKFIELD.

Orange Association of Congregational Churches May 8 and 9.

The annual meeting of Orange Association of Congregational Churches is to be held at East Brookfield on Wednesday and Thursday, May 8 and 9. An unusually strong and attractive program has been arranged, speakers of the first rank in the denomination being under engagement to address the gathering. The general subject under consideration will be "The Church as a Unifying Force in a Divided World," and the following are among the sub-topics that will be discussed: "Is Our Gospel Really a Gospel of Brotherhood?" Rev. Fraser Metzger; "Unifying Protestant Forces in Vermont," Secretary Charles C. Merrill; "Can the Church Make Democracy Safe for America?" Secretary George L. Cady, D. D.; "The True Exponent of Christian Internationalism," Rev. Charles T. Riggs of Turkey.

Dr. Cady has had pastorates in Iowa, Massachusetts and Michigan, previous to his call last autumn to become corresponding secretary of the American Missionary association, and friends of the association have rejoiced that a man of his energy, vision, and sense of human values has been appointed to this position. Perhaps no address at the last national council was more commented on than the one he gave on a subject similar to what he will speak upon at this meeting.

Mr. Riggs is a true representative of the American board's work in Turkey. As a grandson of one of our most famous missionaries he returned to America for his college work at Princeton and the full course at Auburn seminary. He has been a teacher in Robert college in close touch with the political turmoil of the near East since 1900. Under the American board he is editor of the only English Christian paper in Turkey, called "The Orient," and has had his full share of difficulties with the Turkish censor and the double dealing of Turkish diplomacy. Mr. Riggs knows what he speaks of in the near East and adds to his experience the ability to tell it in a vital and interesting fashion. He was born in Turkey and before his appointment by the American board in 1900 he was a teacher at Robert college.

NORTHFIELD

Liberty Loan Parade Friday Afternoon Was a Good Spectacle.

This town celebrated Liberty loan day Friday by a rousing parade although but a short time was given those taking part to prepare for it. The parade formed on North Main street opposite Cross Brothers' sheds and covered the following streets, Vine, Pearl, Union, Water, Wall, across the common to Main, Washington, Central, to the common, where short exercises were held.

The following was the order of the parade: Colonel Byrroade and staff, Capt. J. L. Moseley and clergy, veterans in carriages, mothers having sons in the service (a large auto stage of Cross Bros.) had 14 mothers, among them Mrs. Andrew Beattie, who has four sons in the service, one in Palestine, one in Italy, one in England and one in a training camp in this country; ladies' reading circle in autos, Union club members in autos, Emma Lynde Mayo chapter float, "Spirit of 76-41-18, Uncle Sam and Goddess of Liberty"; Northfield Cornet band, D. A. R. float, ox team with ladies representing the birth of the flag; Northfield high school, Northfield graded school, Northfield Falls school, the Center school and the Holton district school, Northfield graded school float with boy drum corps, "Sail on O Ship of State"; Linn Hill and daughter, Phyllis, representing "My daddy has a bond, has yours?"; Northfield Publishing Co. float, complete even to its printing press and followed by its "devil," who delivered The News extra, "Buy a Bond." On the float were the complete force of The News from its editor down; granite cutters' union, granite manufacturers' float, auto in form of airplane; Nisatin club float, a full-sized "tank"; Norwich university mounted cadets, Norwich university cadets, dismounted, Norwich university faculty, Northfield branch of the Red Cross headed by the ambulance of C. P. Hatch, driven by Mrs. Elroy A. Chase, complete with its Red Cross physician and nurse represented by Dr. H. A. Whitney and Mrs. C. D. Fairman; merchants' association float, business men, clerks' union, the float of the three local banks, Northfield fire department, Alex Eddy chief; Northfield fire department float, Union club float.

Following the parade short exercises were held on the common, with remarks by Col. G. L. Byrroade and Rev. Father J. A. Lynch, after which several young ladies went among the crowd selling Liberty bonds and were successful in selling $2,200. To Mrs. Ethel Adams Tillotson belongs a good deal of credit for the parade, especially for the part that the ladies took, as it was through her work that so many ladies were asked to take part. Mrs. Tillotson has been appointed local chairman of the women's third Liberty loan committee, of which Mrs. E. C. Smith of St. Albans is state chairman. The committee having the parade in charge were C. P. Hatch, Col. G. L. Byrroade, Mrs. Ethel Adams Tillotson, Alex Eddy and H. H. Slack.

Theron S. Dean of Burlington, corresponding secretary of the Green Mountain club, will give a lecture this evening at Guild hall on "A Week's Hike in the Green Mountains." This lecture is free to all and anyone interested in Vermont should attend.

The regular monthly meeting of the Nisatin club will be held at their rooms Wednesday evening, at which time Rev. J. A. Lynch will speak.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Jones spent Sunday with relatives in Washington. The annual meeting of the Northfield

WRIGLEY'S

Helps teeth, breath, appetite, digestion.

"Give it to me, please. Granddaddy."

"Why Bobby, if you wait a bit for it you'll have it to enjoy longer!"

A Business Should be as Big as Its Job

If bigness is of benefit to the public it should be commended.

The size of a business depends upon the needs which that business is called upon to serve. A business should be as big as its job. You do not drive tacks with a pile-driver—or piles with a tack-hammer.

Swift & Company's growth has been the natural and inevitable result of national and international needs.

Large-scale production and distribution are necessary to convert the live stock of the West into meat and by-products, and to distribute them over long distances to the consuming centers of the East and abroad.

Only an organization like that of Swift & Company, with its many packing plants, hundreds of distributing houses, and thousands of refrigerator cars, would have been able to handle the varying seasonal supplies of live stock, and meet the present war emergency by supplying, without interruption:

First—The U. S. soldiers and the Allies in Europe by shipping as much as 800 carloads of meat products in a single week!

Second—The cantonments in the United States.

Third—The retailers upon whom the American public depends for its daily supply of meat.

But many people ask—Do producers and consumers pay too much for the complex service rendered?

Everyone, we believe, concedes the efficiency of the Swift & Company organization—in performing a big job in a big way at a minimum of expense.

Swift & Company's total profit in 1917 was less than 4 cents on each dollar of sales of meat and by-products. Elimination of this profit would have had practically no effect on live stock and meat prices.

Do you believe that this service can be rendered for less by any other conceivable method of organization or operation?

These questions and others are answered fully and frankly in the Swift & Company 1918 Year Book sent free on request. Address Swift & Company, U. S. Yards, Chicago
